Helping people home when austerity bites

Technology such as telecare has been proven to:
- delay admissions to care homes
- reduce reliance on expensive care packages
- prevent unplanned hospital admissions
- give carers greater peace of mind

Here’s how it can help the community:

ASSURED
In a home that will evolve with you

CONNECTED with internet access and video telephony

SECURE
with video door entry and access control

INDEPENDENT
help only when you need it

PROTECTED
with environmental telecare sensors

IN CONTROL
Easy repair reporting and calendar management

SAFE
with help available 24 hours a day

WELL
self care with health apps and telehealth

FULFILLED
with social events and access to your community

A new approach to supporting people with complex needs

The challenge
There is an urgent and growing need across the UK for cost effective accommodation and care for adults with a variety of physical and learning disabilities.

What we did
Tunstall offer a range of technology enabled care solutions for people with learning disabilities, physical disabilities, complex needs and behaviour which challenges, living in supported living environments. Working closely with local authorities and developers, we ensure that the infrastructure of a scheme can support a range of people from the moment they move in, and for years into the future. Uniquely, we assess an individual’s needs and create a bespoke, integrated solution to meet them.

For the first time in her life, Jayne has her own flat and a true sense of control and independence.

To talk to us about how we can help you enrich lives by including technology in your care and support plans call us on 01977 660479 or email marketing@tunstall.com
WELCOME

Welcome to this year’s Spring Seminar, the annual event which gives all our members, DASSs as well as their senior managers, time and space to share experiences, think, learn and network. We are back at Yarnfield in Staffordshire for the second year running and meet in the middle of one of the most unpredictable General Election campaigns for some years.

We also meet within days of the Care Act coming into operation and in the run-up to big choices for whichever government is in power after 7 May in relation to both the overall policy landscape and specific issues such as the Spending Review and the integration of health and social care. And we meet also, against the backdrop of the recent ADASS paper, ‘Distinctive, Valued, Personal – Why Social Care Matters: The Next Five Years’ which is intended to inform and help shape those debates.

As you would expect, our programme covers all the major themes - sustainable funding, mental capacity, integration, quality, workforce, safeguarding, personalisation - and, with media colleagues joining us, we also have a session on the public and media view of adult social care.

We look forward to Ray James’ speech as our new President and also to thanking David Pearson for his energetic and high-achieving Presidential year.

One final - shameless – plug from Harold Bodmer and me: for those of you who work in counties or county unitaries, or are just curious, please join us, the County Councils’ Network and sponsors Tunstall, for a session on social care in rural areas at 5.45pm on 15 April!

Thanks, as always, go to the ADASS team and colleagues for organising this week’s event - a huge amount of good work and long hours go into making it happen.

Enjoy the next three days!

Best wishes

Bridget Warr, UK Home Care Association

UKHCA is the professional association for providers of homecare services from the voluntary, public and independent sectors. Bridget has been UKHCA’s Chief Executive since July 2010, prior to which she was Chief Executive of Guide Dogs for six years.

She is a registered Social Worker and has been an Executive Director of the disability charity, Scope, and Chief Executive of Guide Dogs; both large charities providing a wide range of UKH-wide services. She has held a number of trustee posts, including with the British Agencies for Adoption and Fostering and the Association of Chief Executives of Voluntary Organisations.

Bridget is currently the independent chair of two committees for the deafblind charity, Sense, chairs appeal panels for NHS England on Continuing Health Care issues and chairs NICE’s first Social Care Guidance Development Group, focussing on homecare.

Carolyn Downs, Local Government Association

Carolyn was appointed as Chief Executive of the Local Government Association in September 2011.

Prior to this Carolyn was the Chief Executive of the Legal Services Commission, which she was appointed to in March 2010.
Carolyn was Deputy Permanent Secretary and Director General, Corporate Performance of the Ministry of Justice. Before this, Carolyn was Chief Executive of Shropshire County Council for nearly 6 years. She had worked for Shropshire County Council since 1999. Previously, she was a Corporate Director with the County Council with responsibilities including Environmental Services.

David Behan CBE, Care Quality Commission (CQC)

David began his post as Chief Executive in July 2012.

David was born and brought up in Blackburn in Lancashire and graduated from Bradford University in 1978. He was awarded a CBE in 2003, and, in 2004, was awarded an Honorary Doctorate in Law by Greenwich University.

He was previously the Director General of Social Care, Local Government and Care Partnerships at the Department of Health, the President of the Association of Directors of Social Services, and the first Chief Inspector of the Commission for Social Care Inspection.

Between 1996 to 2003, he was Director of Social Services at London Borough of Greenwich and a member of the Greenwich Primary Care Trust Board and the Professional Executive Committee.

Des Kelly OBE, National Care Forum

Des Kelly is Executive Director of the National Care Forum having previously been Partnerships Director with BUPA Care Homes. He represents NCF with the main sector bodies including the Think Local Act Personal partnership, for which he chairs the TLAP Quality Forum, National Market Development Forum, the Department of Health, the Care Quality Commission, Skills for Care and the Social Care Institute for Excellence.

Des has a background of working in the residential care sector with both older people and other adults and served on the Wagner Review of Residential Care Committee which published A Positive Choice in 1988. He continues to write extensively for the professional press with over 300 articles published. He was the Editor of the journal Social Caring for 10 years until 2009, acts as News Editor of the monthly magazine Care Management Matters, has a regular column in the magazine Care Talk and sits on the Editorial Board of several other journals in the care sector. He was co-author of Creative Homes: how the arts can contribute to quality of life in residential care, published by The Baring Foundation in November 2011.
Des was awarded an OBE in the Queen’s Birthday Honours in June 2007 for services to social care and was the founder Chair of the Care Provider Alliance. His current roles include: the Chair of the charity the Centre for Policy on Ageing (CPA), national advisor for the Centre for Workforce Intelligence and chair of the Advisory Group of the ‘My Home Life’ culture change programme. He is a Director of Skills for Care and the charity the Residential Forum. In July 2013 was appointed a Commissioner on the Demos-supported Commission on Residential Care chaired by former Minister Paul Burstow.

Dr Johnny Marshall,
NHS Confederation

Johnny has been a GP in Buckinghamshire since 1992. His practice is part of a federated model of working as the Westongrove Partnership. Johnny has undertaken various roles within NHS Buckinghamshire and was the founding chair of United Commissioning, the forerunner to Aylesbury Vale Clinical Commissioning Group.

He served as Chairman of the National Association of Primary Care (NAPC) from September 2008 to December 2011.

Johnny has played a lead role in establishing NHS Clinical Commissioners as a national membership organisation for clinical commissioning groups.

He was an Advisory Member to the NHS Commissioning Board Executive Team during 2012 supporting their work on the future design of the NHS.

Johnny was appointed as Policy Director at the NHS Confederation in 2012.

Gemma Tetlow,
Institute for Fiscal Studies (IFS)

Gemma is programme director of the IFS’ work on pensions, saving and public finances. Her research interests include pensions, savings, asset holding and health and their interactions with later life working. Her work also includes analysis of the UK’s public finances and public spending.

John Jackson,
Oxfordshire County Council

John Jackson has been Director of Adult Social Services with Oxfordshire County Council since January 2007. Previously he was Director for Resources at Oxfordshire County Council. John has worked in local government since leaving University in 1979. He is a qualified accountant but has carried out a wide variety of roles.

Since September 2014, John has also been Director of Strategy & Transformation at Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group. This reflects the shared aim to integrate the work of health and social care. He is a member of the Board of the Clinical Commissioning Group and also of the Oxfordshire Health and Wellbeing Board.

John is co-chair of the Association of Directors of Adult Social Services (ADASS) Resources network which means that he speaks for ADASS on resources matters. He meets regularly with the Department of Health to discuss financial issues affecting adult social care.
Jon Rouse,
Department of Health

Jon Rouse, Director General, Social Care, Local Government and Care Partnerships, Department of Health

Jon Rouse was appointed Director General, Social Care, Local Government and Care Partnerships in March 2013. Before joining the department, he was Chief Executive of the London Borough of Croydon. Other previous roles include, Chief Executive, Housing Corporation and Chief Executive, Commission for Architecture and the Built Environment.

He has also held a wide range of non-executive positions with organisations including English Partnerships and Homelessness International, and was a non-executive director on the Department of Health’s board until 2010.

Part of the Department of Health senior team and an executive member of its board, the Director General, Social Care, Local Government and Care Partnerships is responsible for:
- policies on care and support for adults, and health services for children
- the department’s relationship with local government across all of health and care
- mental health
- disability
- health equalities

Laurence Clark

Laurence Clark is an internationally-acclaimed comedian, presenter, writer and actor who has cerebral palsy. His observational, political stand-up and hidden camera footage demonstrate the endearing naivety and ridiculousness of human behaviour by seeing the world through his eyes with humour and warmth. He’s performed everywhere from the House of Commons to a double-decker bus in Sheffield. His 6 critically-acclaimed solo shows at the Edinburgh Fringe have gained him 21 4-star and 3 5-star reviews.

Professor Martin Green OBE,
Care England

Chief Executive: Care England
DH: Independent Sector Dementia Champion
Chair: International Longevity Centre - UK

Martin has had an extensive career in NGO development, nationally & internationally, and is Chief Executive of Care England, the largest representative body for independent social care services in the UK. He is also Chair of the International Longevity Centre, and a Trustee of Independent Age and the National Aids Trust.

In 2013 he was appointed Visiting Professor of Social Care to Buckinghamshire New University.

In 2012, in his role as Department of Health Independent Sector Dementia Champion, he led the development of the Dementia Care and Support Compact for The Prime Minister’s Challenge on Dementia and was awarded an OBE for Services to Social Care in the 2012 Queen’s Birthday Honours List.

In 2008 he was named care personality of the year.
Nicholas Paines
Law Commission

Formerly a leading silk in EU and public law, Nicholas Paines was appointed a Law Commissioner in November 2013. He sits as a Deputy High Court Judge in the Administrative Court, a Deputy Judge of the Upper Tribunal (Administrative Appeals Chamber) and the First-tier Tribunal (Tax Chamber) and a Recorder in the Crown Court. He is also a member of the Bar of Northern Ireland.

Nick Triggle,
BBC Health Correspondent

Nick has been a journalist for 16 years, working at the BBC for 12. He’s covered health and care for nearly 10 years.

He mainly covers stories for online but also appears on radio and on the News Channel.

He was also part of the team that produced the BBC care calculator which has its own dedicated index: www.bbc.co.uk/care. The calculator was launched in January and provides users with information about how care services work for the over 65s and how much they cost where ever they live in the UK.

Ruth Smith,
Community Care

Ruth Smith is editor of Community Care. She won New Editor of the Year 2013 at the PPA New Talent Awards. When not at work she enjoys cooking, gardening and dress making.

Simon Stevens
NHS England

Simon Stevens became CEO of NHS England on 1 April 2014.

He has previously spent fifteen years working in the NHS and UK public service, and eleven years internationally. He joins NHS England from UnitedHealth Group, where as president of its global health division he has led health services in the United States, Europe, Brazil, India, China, Africa, and the Middle East. Previously he was the organisation’s Medicare CEO, commissioning publicly-funded health care for millions of older Americans.

From 1997 to 2004 Simon was the Prime Minister’s Health Adviser at 10 Downing Street, and policy adviser to successive Health Secretaries at the UK Department of Health. Prior to that he held a number of senior NHS roles in the North East, London and the South Coast – leading acute hospitals, mental health and community services, primary care and health commissioning. Simon joined the NHS through its Graduate Training Scheme in 1988.

Simon was born in Birmingham and was educated at Balliol College, Oxford University; Strathclyde University, Glasgow; and Columbia University, New York where he was Harkness Fellow at the New York City Health Department. He is married with two school-age children.

Simon currently volunteers as a member of the board of directors of the Commonwealth Fund, an international health philanthropy. He has previously also served as a trustee of the Kings Fund and a director of the Nuffield Trust, as well as a local councillor for Brixton and a visiting professor at the London School of Economics. His work on health care quality, new models of technology-enabled prevention, and international health reform is regularly published in leading international medical journals.
Tina Coldham, Chair of SCIE’s Co-Production Network

Tina campaigns for a better understanding of mental health issues in society, and works to improve service provision. She describes herself as having enduring mental health problems, having used mental health services over many years. Tina has worked in the voluntary sector, across disability, in academia, with regulators and governing bodies as a trainer, researcher and consultant. In 2001 Tina joined the Centre for Mental Health Services Development England (CMHSDE) at King’s College as a project coordinator, working on the successful national pilot to implement direct payments in mental health. Since 2003, she has worked for the Health and Social Care Advisory Service (HASCAS) on various national projects including direct payments work, service reviews, independent investigations, and MARD – the review of user and carer involvement in NIMHE (CSIP). Tina is a SCIE Board member and also chairs the SCIE Co-production Network.

Tony Hunter, Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE)

Tony was educated at Doncaster Grammar School, Oxford University and for his social work qualification, at Nottingham University. After periods as a frontline social worker, a senior hospital social worker and a training and development officer, Tony moved to Barnsley where he ran day and domiciliary services. In 1986 Tony became principal officer, Research and Service Development, with Barnardo’s; then he moved to Price Waterhouse management consultants, working on a range of health and social care projects in Britain and abroad. In 1995 Tony became Director of Social Services, Housing and Public Protection with the new unitary East Riding of Yorkshire Council. In 2003 he joined Liverpool City Council to assist in the recovery of its social services functions. Tony was the President of the Association of Directors of Social Services (ADASS) for the year ending October 2005. Before joining SCIE, Tony was Chief Executive of North East Lincolnshire Council, where was passionate about promoting the area’s resurgence. He was awarded the OBE in the Queen’s Birthday Honours List in 2010, for services to social care. Tony is a Board member of Scope, and sits on various national health and social care groups. Tony was president-elect of the Society of Local Authority Chief Executives before being appointed SCIE Chief Executive.

C: Affordable Independence? Lessons from Dementia
An ageing population means more people living with dementia in the community on their own or with a family carer. There are currently limited NHS interventions and a reliance on cash-strapped social care. What can we learn from current experience? With introductions by pioneers and testimony from service users, this workshop will look at three areas: How an integrated service hub with Local Authority, NHS and the voluntary sector benefits commissioners and users; How developing a dementia friendly community contributes to improved quality of life; How to improve domiciliary care by harnessing community support. Workshop participants will critique and add their own experiences.

Jeremy Hughes – Alzheimer’s Society
Karen McCrudden, Merton Dementia Hub
Vicky Rowley, Staffordshire and Stoke-on – Trent, Dementia Action Alliance
Simon Wallace, Yorkshire Dementia Action Alliance
Hazel Bayley, Home Focus
Ann Johnson, Living with Dementia
ADASS Chair: Pat Jones-Greenhalgh

D: Transforming Care
This session will hear from a family whose relative was in Winterbourne view, and from the Programme lead at NHS England. There will be plenty of time for discussion and a representative from the Department of Health will join the panel so we also cover ‘No Voice Unheard, No Right Ignored’.

Winterbourne family
Fiona Clark, NHS England
Rachel Holynska, Department of Health
ADASS Leads: Rosy Pope and Sean McLaughlin

E: Integrated Personal Commissioning (IPC)
The workshop will focus on the impact of the IPC programme to date. It will also consider how IPC can assist with the Care Act 2014 implementation and serve as a tool to integrate health and social care. Delegates will be encouraged to share local experiences and challenges. All welcome.

Luke O’Shea, Head of Patient Participation, NHS Commissioning Board
Sam Bennett, Director Think Local Act Personal
ADASS Chair: Matt Bowsher
F: Workforce Development: Changing care, changing culture
The purpose of this workshop is to provoke debate about changes in workforce culture and behaviours that are critical to successful implementation of the Care Act 2014 and transforming care. Also to reflect on resulting workforce development priorities and how the sector should work together to deliver these. Following short presentations, there will be debate about contemporary workforce challenges, roles, priorities and how we can best secure cultural change and reform.
Sharon Allen, Chief Executive, Skills for Care
Annie Hudson, Chief Executive, The College of Social Work
Lyn Romeo, Chief Social Worker, Department of Health
ADASS Chair: Phil Porter

G: Carers, assessments and support: where we’ve got to and a look ahead
With the Care Act in force, we’ll take a look at where authorities are up to with support for carers. We will look at authorities’ effective solutions and direction of travel — drawing on strategic regional planning across London. Discussion will include: practice sharing and key delivery priorities, assessments and their processes, and early signs around demand from carers and links with Children’s Services. We’ll take a strategic look too over the next planning period. The session will be supported by the newly published documents around caring: effective interventions, whole family working and “opportunities for councils” — a recently published Carers UK paper.
Grainne Siggins, Director of Adult Social Care, LB of Newham
Emily Holzhausen, Director of Policy and Public Affairs, Carers UK
ADASS Chair: Grainne Siggins

H: Care Act Joint Programme Office Workshop
One part of this workshop will focus on understanding the costs of Care Act funding reforms. It will be an opportunity for those councils not involved in ‘testing’ the financial modelling to hear about it and ask questions. The second part of this workshop will focus on implementing and embedding the Care Act 2014. It will provide an overview of the key issues emerging from the Stocktake, covering those areas where there is a high degree of confidence, as well as exploring those which still present a considerable challenge.

Pick ’n’ Mix sessions

ADASS Spring Seminar 2015
Thursday, 16 April 2015,
5.00-6.15pm

HOW TO BOOK

To book your place on any of the following sessions please email kika.charalambous@adass.org.uk using the subject ‘pick n mix’ with details of your session choice along with your name and LA / organisation by Monday 6th April.

INDIAN HEAD MASSAGE: Speed massage was a big hit last year giving people an immediate sense of improved wellbeing and strength to face the challenges ahead! Due to the popularity of this activity booking is essential. Spaces are available on a first come first served basis. Email kika.charalambous@adass.org.uk to book your place now.

RUNNING CLUB: Join Jonathan Gardam, ADASS Policy Officer, for a refreshing run whilst taking in the views of the Yarnfield grounds. To join the club email kika.charalambous@adass.org.uk and don’t forget your running shoes.

MEDITATION: Calm the mind and the body with this relaxing session. You will learn a series of gentle movements, breathing exercises and meditation techniques that you can use again and again. Bring comfortable clothes for this session. Email kika.charalambous@adass.org.uk to book your place.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT: As always, there will be an informal, fun tennis tournament. There is a trophy to be won, but the main aim is to enjoy a hit. Cathie Williams, ADASS Chief Officer, kindly organises this so that people play several short matches with different partners. All abilities welcome. Just bring your racket and shoes. Email kika.charalambous@adass.org.uk to book yourself onto the tournament.

SOCIAL MEDIA: Social media is a powerful tool across the sector with MPs tweeting in Parliament and journalists tweeting from the public gallery, make sure you never miss out with this masterclass on how to! Book your place by emailing kika.charalambous@adass.org.uk and turn up with you mobile, laptop or tablet.
