

Fall in Resources

As we all live longer - more people need care and support but resources have fallen by 26% since 2010. As a result social care helps 400,000 fewer people and only those with substantial and critical need.